

The Furious Method

Twelve rounds. Three movements. One comeback.

I

DOWN

Rock bottom and the choice to get back up.

01Getting Knocked Down

Two lifelines: hope and gratitude.

02Getting Back Up

Resilience is the habit of treating storms as teachers.

II

BUILD

Goals, self-belief, your corner, your mind, your body.

03Setting Your Goals

Without a clear goal you sink — write the one sentence.

04Backing Yourself

Don't let your enemy live between your own two ears.

05Using Your Corner

Asking for help is the move that prevents the worst.

06Retraining Your Mind

Catch the autopilot, redirect, replace.

07The Power of Exercise

Movement is the prescription depression won't fill.

III

BECOME

Execution, sacrifice, identity, life after the bell.

08Making Weight

Sustainable habits, not willpower stunts.

09Training Camp

Preparation removes excuses on the day.

10Blocking Distractions

Doubters' doubts are theirs — control the perimeter.

11Your Alter Ego

Switch on a built-on-purpose self for the moment.

12Moving Forward

After the bell, today is the prize, not next time.

"If I can come back from the brink, you can too. Get back up, seek professional help — let's do this together as a team."

PHASE ONE

RECOVER

When you're on the floor.

- 01 Admit it out loud, today.
Tell one person you trust. Don't edit it down.
- 02 Find a professional this week.
Therapist, GP, helpline, addiction counsellor.
- 03 Move your environment.
Change rooms, friends, cities if you need to.
- 04 Build a perimeter against negativity.
Mute the news, drop spiral-feeders, leave platforms that hurt.
- 05 Use two lifelines daily.
One thing you're looking forward to; three you're grateful for.
- 06 Move the body, even badly.
If you can't run, walk. If you can't walk, stretch.

PHASE TWO

REBUILD

When you've decided to get back in.

- 01 Write the one-sentence goal.
Personal, specific, time-bound. Tape it where you'll see it.
- 02 Break it into 10% chunks with rewards.
Momentum is the secret currency of comebacks.
- 03 Hand-pick your corner.
Three to five honest people who pull in your direction.
- 04 Build your routine and let it become you.
Make the automatic stuff do your goals for you.
- 05 List six big waves you've already ridden.
Read it on the bad days. Evidence beats the inner voice.
- 06 Train one pattern interrupt.
"Whoop" five times, cold water, sixty seconds outside.
- 07 Forgive yourself for last year.
Comebacks need both hands free.

PHASE THREE

REIGN

When the fight is on you.

- 01 Cut the entourage to essentials.
If they're not making you sharper, they're slowing you.
- 02 Build your alter ego on purpose.
Name the version of you the moment requires.
- 03 Engineer one ritual you trust.
Same prayer, same chant, same stretch — every time.
- 04 Have no Plan B.
Plan B drains Plan A. Burn the boats.
- 05 Block distractions on a schedule.
Calendar the silence. Discipline the input.
- 06 Sleep like it's part of the work.
It is. The repair shift starts at lights out.
- 07 Use the stage to give back.
Find someone earlier in the fight and put a hand out.
